AMERICANS ARE SAVING money as never before, and prohibitionists will find comfort and ammunition in that.

Savings bank deposits increased last year one billion one hundred and forty million, a good deal of money, and that's only a small part of it.

OTHER hundreds of millions were invested in real estate, bonds, stocks, etc. In the world's history there is nothing like the way in which the American people both SPEND money and SAVE money.

Savings average thirty million dollars a day, about thirty cents a day for every man, woman and child—not bad.

YET YOU HAVE pessimists predicting hard times and sensible business men actually frightened by their own talk about "a bad Presidential year."

WASHINGTON predicts that postal employes will get an increase of $300 a year, "all except laborers."

WHY except the laborers? Their children eat as much, wear out as many shoes as others. The government can afford to pay its workers well, and should remember that the child of a laborer may be the most important citizen of the future, and, anyhow, should be well fed. Keats, the poet, worth ten million average human beings, was the son of a livery stable groom.

"TO LEND dignity to their bobbed heads," English women wear fillets of green and gold, or little spikes, in Goddess of Liberty fashion. The real dignity of bobbed head is a well-shaped skull. Nothing is more dignified than the symmetrical head of an intelligent woman, bobbed or not. Eventually all women will cut their hair in such fashion as to show the whole forehead, the ears, and the shape of the back head. But it will take time to get used to it.

THE Governor of Connecticut, past fifty, will enter Yale University, to specialize in history and psychology, when his term ends, and that is normal. At fifty men really want knowledge and value it. In early youth they crave exercise and excitement.

In childhood we lock them up in schools, forcing knowledge into them by a pumping process, when they ought to be out of doors. And when they are old we turn them out into the golf fields and let them make geese of themselves when they really ought to be studying.

REPUBLICANS fear a third party led by La Follette. Democrats dread the possibility of an independent Democratic candidate in the South, should "Al" Smith be nominated. Politicians cry: "What a terrible thing to have four candidates." How would they manage politics

WON LOVE OF LYTELL IN DESERT

Claire Windsor Admits Affection for Actor, Whose Wife Will Free Him

Los Angeles, Cal., April 24.—No hard feelings enter into the divorce plans of Bert Lytell, film star, and Mrs. Bert Lytell.

In fact, three persons smiled happily here when Lytell, just before attending a farewell party given by the movie colony, made a statement eulogizing his actress wife as an "admirable woman," but admitting that their divorce would soon be a fact.

The three happy ones were Mr. and Mrs. Lytell and Claire Windsor, the beautiful movie blonde who has just returned with Lytell from Algiers, where she was his leading woman in a new desert sheik-play.

Bert Lytell

Miss Windsor followed Lytell's statement with one of her own in which she took cognizance of the rumors that have told of her frequent appearances with Bert Lytell in public. She said:

"I think a whole lot of him. He is about the nicest man I ever met. He is so fine, so clever and such a wonderful actor and such a wonderful director, too, if he wanted to be a director.

"Yes, I have very deep affection for him.

"It wouldn't make me mad at all if he asked me to marry him."

Of course, right now, Mr. Lytell is not in a legal position to make the

KILLING OF TARS UNCONFIRMED

Washington, April 25.—The United States has invited the participation of Costa Rica, San Salvador, Nicaragua and Guatemala in a peace conference to be held at Amapala, Honduras.

A preliminary meeting of the conference will attempt to arrange with the warring factions in Honduras an armistice to continue throughout the time the peace commissioners are in session.

Washington, April 25. — Latest advices to the State and Navy Departments, contained no word of casualties among the American naval forces at Tegucigalpa, capital of Honduras, reported in unofficial messages from San Salvador.

Officials were inclined to accept the lack of any official report as a hopeful sign. They pointed out that

AUTOIST SAVED FROM POND

Henry Hildebrand, truck driver of Hill avenue, Lexington, owes his life to two Cambridge chauffeurs.

They pulled him from the pond near Wayside Inn at South Sudbury, after his truck was crowded off the road and turned upside down in the pond.

Charles A. Butt of No. 95 Allston street, Cambridge, and Edward Bracelin of No. 146 Webster avenue, Cambridge, employed by the Cambridge Auto Transportation Company, were returning from Worcester when they saw the accident.

The truck capsized and came to rest in the shallow waters of the pond. When the Cambridge drivers reached the scene no signs of the driver of the bread truck were visible.

The men jumped into the water and released Hildebrand.

He was unconscious from a deep gash in his head.

BRITAIN IS WARNED BY ULSTER

Troops Massed Along Border as the Irish Boundary Conference Ends in Collapse

Belfast, April 25 (I.N.S.)—The Ulster government prepared today to mass troops along the Free State frontier to meet any eventuality in the new boundary crisis.

Warning was sent to the British government that "the consequences will be upon its head if any attempt is made to alter the Ulster border." It is expected that the Free State will force the issue by making immediate demand for the setting up and functioning of the boundary commission.

Ulster fears that if the commission is put to work on the dispute it will make wholesale transfers of territory from Ulster Province to the Free State.

The collapse of the boundary conference has created what is frankly conceded to be a grave crisis.

It is probable the cabinet will consider the matter within the next few days. Further mediation may be attempted to avert developments fraught with danger of an Irish internal war.

Reports today were current that the cabinet might ask Parliament for special legislation to deal with the situation.

WEATHER TO STAY FAIR AND COOLER

Be glad you are not in Denver or in North Dakota today unless you happen to be a glutton for punishment in the form of cold weather.

While Boston is enjoying the comparatively mild temperature of 52 degrees, in Denver the mercury was down to 20 while six inches of snow covered the streets. In North Dakota and other points in the Northwest the snow is piled high and the temperature is low.

At 2 p. m. today the mercury stood at 61 in Boston, rising four degrees before noon. According to weather predictions, fair weather will continue in this section of the country over tonight and tomorrow. Moderate north and northeast winds are anticipated.

HOUSE PASSES TAX EXEMPTION BILL

The Senate bill to raise exemptions under the State income tax on intangibles from $300 to $1,000 was today amended in the House to include taxes of this year, and then was passed to be engrossed. The bill provides that the exemption shall not be given to any married person if the combined income of both husband and wife from all sources exceeds $1,500.

BRUTAL MOTHER JAILED

Sherborn Term for Mrs. Maxwell; Woman Who Strung Up Boy Held for Jury

The sanity of two women alleged to have treated children brutally was questioned today in two Boston courts.

Mrs. Florence Maxwell of No. 662 Harrison avenue was given an indefinite sentence to Sherborn by Judge William Sullivan in Municipal Court, when she was charged with biting and beating her six-year-old stepdaughter, Dorothy.

The stepmother was characterized by Dr. E. A. Sandoz, court alienist, who examined her, as "irresponsible and brutal." It was planned originally to send her to the Psychopathic Hospital.

According to Harry Maxwell, Dorothy's father, the child suffered two bad beatings at the hands of his second wife. Through fear of her stepmother, Dorothy told a story of a "big bad man" attacking her on both occasions.

STRUNG BOY BY THUMBS.

In the Charlestown Court Mrs. Ruby P. Williams, joining house keeper, at No. 354 Main street, Charlestown, was held in $2000 for the Grand Jury when arraigned charged with stringing four-year-old Billy Mehegan off the floor by his thumbs.

Judge Charles S. Sullivan, after hearing testimony by Mrs. Williams that she had hung the boy up because she was afraid he would injure himself through falling out of the window, declared:

"I do not think this woman ought to be at liberty. It looks to me like a case that ought to be further investigated. She should be examined by an alienist."

Little Billy, so sad Edward Mehegan, who boarded the child with Mrs Williams, is at the City Hospital, being treated for a broken arm, many body bruises and two thumbs out nearly to the bone by the strings with which Mrs Williams hung him up.

SUSPENDED 15 MINUTES.

The lodging house keeper declared that the boy's father had given her permission to chastise Billy, if necessary. She used a long stick to spank him several times, but when he threw papers out of the window, she strung him up.

She said she released him several times and then re-hung him, with his feet off the floor. He hung for Lagott was arrested by policemen who noticed his automobile zig zagging in the street. The girl was released but he was charged with reckless driving.

BRAVES GAME OFF; BAGWELL RELEASED

Rain and cold forced the Braves management to cancel today's game between the Tribesmen and Phillies. The two clubs will meet tomorrow in the last encounter of the series.

Secretary Eddie Riley of the Braves announced today the release of Outfielder Bill Bagwell to Galveston of the Texas League. Bagwell was recalled from Worcester, where he seemed to be going big guns. This Spring, however, he lost his batting eye completely and as that was his big asset Manager Bancroft could find no further use for him.

END COMES SUDDENLY TO CHIEF

Stricken by Acute Indigestion at His Home in New York; Was 65 Years Old

New York, April 25 (I.N.S.)—Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, and for nearly a quarter of a century one of the most powerful Democratic leaders of the country, died today.

His death, on the eve of the Democratic national convention due to assemble here in June, created a profound sensation in political circles. It had been universally expected—and conceded—that Murphy would play an important part in framing the Democratic national ticket for 1924.

Murphy died at his home, No. 305 East 19th street, suddenly, shortly after 9 o'clock this morning.

Death was due to acute indigestion.

ACTIVE RECENTLY.

Murphy's death, so unexpected and while he apparently was in the best of health, shocked his family and friends. For a time it was almost impossible to obtain any details of his sudden passing, so great was the confusion that reigned in his home.

At the famous wigwam in Fourteenth street, his friends and co-workers were at first incredulous and then grief-stricken.

Recently, Murphy has been most active. With the approach of the national convention and the campaign, his duties as head of the New York state organization called for matrimonial offer suggested by Miss Windsor. But, if all the plans outlined in his statement to reporters today work as well as they sound the handsome movie leading man will taxi straight from the divorce judge's court at no distant date to pop the question to Miss Windsor.

As Mr. Lytell put it, things will happen as follows:

"Mrs. Lytell will bring a divorce action against me shortly. She is an admirable woman. But, while I was in Algiers, for instance, she was in New York following my stage career. It's a case of not being able to get together.

"The divorce will be founded on the grounds of incompatibility. Lytell is now on his way to New York."

All Youngsters of Somerville Must Heed Curfew

"When a Feller Needs a Friend" would make an appropriate title for an order passed by the Board of Aldermen of Somerville.

The order calls on Mayor John M. Webster to bring about a more strict enforcement of the curfew law, and that means that youngsters hereafter must be off the streets at 9 p. m.

The order was introduced by Alderman Warren C. Blaie and was passed without a dissenting vote.

The aldermen also passed an order directing the Committee of Public Safety to inquire into the advisability of employing a policewoman to look after the dance halls and public parks.

Francis A. Perkins, seventy, a member of the Somerville police department for thirty-seven years, was retired by the aldermen on half pay.

BANDITS SEIZE $63,000 FROM CASHIER

Shots Are Fired, but Escape Is Made With Steel Company Payrolls

Granite City, Ill., April 25.—Bandits today robbed T. D. Gradinaroff assistant cashier of the Granite City National Bank, of $63,000 in currency which he had just received at the postoffice from the St. Louis Federal Reserve Bank. Several shots were fired by Gradinaroff at the bandits, but no one was wounded.

The robbery took place in front of the bank, across the street from the postoffice. The money was intended for Steel Company payrolls.

Gradinaroff said he did not know how many bandits were in the party. They are believed to have used two motor cars in their escape.

URGE COOLIDGE TO VETO JAP EXCLUSION

Washington, April 25.—As the Senate and House conferees met today to give the final touches to the new immigration bill, President Coolidge was receiving an eleventh hour resume of the situation as viewed by members of Congress opposed to Japanese exclusion.

Senator Colt, Republican, Rhode Island, chairman of the Senate immigration committee, and one of the six who voted against the pending measure to the last, laid before the President his reasons for viewing the Japanese provisions as illogical, unnecessary and harmful to American interests at large.

While President Coolidge did not indicate his position to callers, the White House, the State Department and Capitol Hill were agreed that only two possible avenues for altering the Japanese section now existed—an almost unprecedented action by the conferees in the shape of a joint recommendation for modification and the veto.

The overwhelming votes in the House and Senate upon the exclusion provision and the continued sentiment aroused by the note of the Japanese Ambassador were regarded as obviating what small chance there was of mediatory action by the conferees.

EPISCOPAL BISHOPS PLAN CONFERENCE

East Northfield, April 25.—Considerations of several questions of church policy included in the Episcopal address as submitted by Bishop Joseph F. Berry of Philadelphia were considered in today's session of the board of bishops in preparation for the quadrennial general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church which opens in Springfield next Thursday.

Paragraphs considered included those dealing with the foreign-speaking populations of the United States, urban and suburban conditions among Methodist churches and the programs of various benevolent boards and philanthropic agencies.

POLICE SAVE AGAWAM MAN FROM LYNCHING

Springfield, April 25.—Police prevented a possible lynching today when twenty-eight-year-old Joseph Bruno, of Poplar street, Agawam was arrested charged with attacking his fifteen-year-old niece, Mary Grimaldi. A score of Agawam farmers enraged at the story of the girl, who is Bruno's housekeeper, threatened to hang Bruno. He was saved by the arrival of Police Chief Connors. In Springfield Court he was held in $15,000 until Monday.

EQUAL RIGHTS BOOSTS DIVORCES IN ENGLAND

London, April 25.—A striking feature of the coming law term here is the large number of divorce suits brought by wives under the new act which gives women equal rights with men in the matter of grounds for divorces, namely, proof of misconduct. There are nearly 600 undefended divorce suits entered on the court lists.

"Spring Fever" Is Due to Over-Eating, Doctor Says

Spring fever—that peculiar disease that is bothering the average citizen now with dreams of a canoe and "that old girl of mine"—is caused by overeating.

No less a person than Dr. M. Victor Safford, director of the medical division of the Boston Health Department, made that statement, pricking, in a single sentence, the romantic bubble of this April madness.

And the best cure for it, according to the doctor, is to eat out a[illegible] the [illegible] Indoors

Small Town Girl's Dream of Art Ended by Poison

New York, April 25.—The Assistant Medical Examiner said the girl had $1.20 in her purse and that in her handbag were a dozen tubes of water colors and several small paint brushes.

She was A. Gilbert of Des Moines, Ia., just another suicide, so far as the busy city went.

But on the quiet streets of far-off Des Moines A. Gilbert was probably a talented person "who could do something in a big way if only she could reach New York and develop her unusual genius."

She must have been Anna Gilbert, the girl who won first prize in drawing class at high school with her sketch, "A Day in the Country."

DREAM OF FAME.

"A Gilbert must have been the girl whose parents had at first been reluctant when she broached the question of leaving Des Moines for the great city of opportunity, where fame and fortune were just around the corner, where one might study gallery after gallery of the greatest masterpieces of the world's artists.

But it couldn't be Anna. Why, her mother got a letter only yesterday telling of her remarkable progress, of the bright years just ahead, of pictures that would sell. Why, she had even hoped for a prize that would take her to the art centres of Europe.

No, it couldn't be Anna. A case of mistaken identity. Anna had every reason to live.

WEALTH TO COME.

The assistant medical examiner said death had been caused by poison. He said she was twenty-four. She had brown bobbed hair, wore a crepe de chine dress, black pumps and brown silk hose.

He said a maid had found her in the bath adjoining her room at the Hotel Richmond, 70 West Forty-sixth street. A very ordinary case.

Why, only two weeks ago Anna sent some money home to her mother—just a little money for a simple sketch she had done—just a few dollars, forerunners of great wealth that would come some day.

Then the folk in Iowa could spend their Summers there and come on to New York to spend their Winters with Anna in her wonderful eight-room studio apartment.

WAITS IN VAIN.

Everybody was struck by Anna's unusual talent. She had been touched by the finger of genius. Funny how genius had sought her out in the rather obscure Iowa town.

And Anna was not the least bit "stuck-up" about her gift. True, she was proud of her talent, but then all her friends were proud of it, too.

There was a boy who liked Anna. He had been a little selfish. Wanted her to stay in Des Moines, marry him, and sacrifice a great career. He had smiled when she left, but it was a queer smile, half of hope, half of despair. He had heard that some girls who went to New York in quest of fame and fortune — even the assistant medical examiner said the girl had $1.20 in her purse, and that in her handbag were a dozen tubes of water colors and several small paint brushes.

in view of the disturbed conditions in Honduras, it would not be unusual if exaggerated versions of the situation had trickled across the border into Salvador.

The unofficial report of casualties said several blueJackets from the U. S. cruiser Milwaukee had been slain by rebel forces while guarding the American legation in the Honduran capital.

The sailors stationed there total 167 men and nine officers.

Their presence was called for when drunken soldiers of the de facto government shot down women and children and looted places of business.

Unofficial announcement is made that the United States Government will handle the situation with a firm hand, if the necessity for such action should be apparent.

Both the American legation and the consulate at Tegucigalpa had been fired upon by armed mobs.

One "incident" which took place only a short time ago was the dropping of bombs, which narrowly escaped causing grave injury to members of the detachment from the Milwaukee.

in Germany, where twenty-three separate parties will fight at the polls on May 4?

ONE OF the leaders, Hausser, is at least interesting. He wears only one small flopping garment and would go naked if police would let him. He says that is what we all should do, and he is working under the direction of Nietzsche, Robespierre, and the founder of Christianity. He has a large following because he promises a millenium. That following need surprise nobody.

To gather a crowd you must appeal to one of three things, fanaticism, cupidity or hate. If all three, so much the bigger crowd. That is why human intelligence often plays a small part in great movements.

GENTLEMEN with wide necks and narrow foreheads say women have no right to vote "until they prove they can fight like men." Helen Pickenbach, going to school, slipped between platform and railroad track. Both her legs were cut off at the knees. To her father, who arrived a few minutes later, the young girl, fully conscious and smiling [illegible] of fear and pain, said: "Don't worry, father. It [illegible] A little later a half of blood was taken from the girl's mother by transfusion, and her daughter, twice fed with her mother's blood, will probably recover.

There are many kinds of courage and women have them all.

WE ARE indeed "fearfully and wonderfully made," and well may we praise the Lord. What horrible things MIGHT happen if our glands ran wild, as in the case of a Russian boy four years old. He wears a full beard and has such abnormal power that he wrestles successfully with grown men and must be watched lest he strangle his playmates, having the brain of a child and no realization of power.

Doctors say the unfortunate boy has excessive development of various glands, especially the thyroid.

MARVELOUSLY we are balanced, and we should be grateful. At the Equator, temperature 140, or the North Pole, 50 below zero, the temperature of your blood remains the same, not a change of one degree, while outside temperature changes two hundred degrees.

And the earth, that floating icehouse in which you live, sails through frightfully cold ether, permanently at "absolute zero," cold inconceivable to us, and we are protected from it.

HOME IS BROKEN UP BY MANY CHILDREN

Just as too many cooks spoil the broth, too many children broke up the happy home of Nathan Zand, aged fifty, of the American House, and his thirty-one-year-old wife, Ida.

The couple were married a year ago. Both had been married before and Zand took seven children home to his new bride while she had the foundation of a sizable family with a boy thirteen and a girl eight.

In Suffolk Probate Court today the husband said his wife just couldn't treat his children right. The wife said Nathan had no love for her two children and refused to take a fatherly interest in them.

As a result, Nathan finally purchased a two-family house at No. 521 West Parke street, Dorchester, and put his children by themselves on the first floor, he told the court.

This failed to work, and in February Mrs. Zand left her husband and went to live at No. 83 Highland street, Chelsea. Her son she put in school in Newton, she said, and the daughter is living with her.

Judge Dolan tried to patch up the differences of the couple when each sought to secure separation papers. He talked to the two children of Mrs. Zand and declared that the children were unusually bright and fine appearing. When Mrs. Zand refused to live with her husband, the judge reserved his decision.

FRIENDLICH GUILTY IN WIFE'S DEATH

New York, April 25.—Harry Friendlich early today was found guilty of manslaughter in the first degree in connection with the death of his wife last November 13. Friendlich's nine-year-old son, Max had testified against his father. The jury deliberated twelve hours and fifteen minutes.

MR. AND MRS. FRIENLICH

Friendlich pointed his finger at the jury and shouted:

"Gentlemen, I am innocent."

Then he fell to the floor and became hysterical. He will be sentenced April 30 and can receive from ten to twenty years.

ALCOHOL SEIZED; DRIVER ARRESTED

Federal agents today seized an automobile truck loaded with 200 gallons of alcohol as it was speeding along Washington street, South End, headed for downtown Boston. Anthony L. Sanceni, 29 years old, of No. 206 Hanover street, driver of the truck, was arrested.

The raiders said the truck load of alcohol came in from Arlington.

'Drinks Broken Glass' In Milk To Prove It Can't Be Done

Philadelphia, April 25.—Testifying in a damage suit Dr. J. Matt, a chemist, threw pieces of broken glass into a bottle of milk, and then drank it to within a short distance of the bottom to prove there was no danger of swallowing the glass.

The case was that of Henry D. Butler, against a dairy company. Butler said he had been cut internally by broken glass when he took two or three swallows of milk from a bottle.

Dr. Matt simply proved that broken glass is heavier than the milk and the case was dismissed.

HARVARD MEN URGED TO JOIN TRAINING CAMP

Harvard Stadium, scene of many gridiron battles, assumed a militaristic aspect when Col. Blanton Winship, hero of three wars, and head of the Citizens' Military Training Camp, addressed two hundred members of the Harvard Athletic Association.

Military training of young men proved a strong point for Switzerland during the World War, according to Colonel Winship. Had the Germans attacked Switzerland, he said, that little country would have immediately thrown 400,000 men well drilled at summer camps, into action.

He strongly urged Harvard to send a representative group to the summer camp at Camp Devens, as the "Harvard Squad." The speech by Colonel Winship was in connection with the recruiting of college students for various summer training camps.

A small college in the West, according to Colonel Winship, sent its entire football squad to a summer camp, and they returned in such good condition they were able to defeat all their opponents.

Colonel Winship suggested forming a committee among the athletic body to endorse the training camp and its merits.

His auditors, members of the tennis, football, lacrosse, baseball and track teams, were in their various uniforms. Major-General Andrew W. Brewster, of the First Corps Area, accompanied Colonel Winship.

WALTHAM ARCHITECT PAYS WITH LIFE FOR HIS MISDEEDS

TRAGEDY VICTIM DESERTED HOME HERE 18 YEARS AGO

Henry Manning, the architect who helped to design the present Waltham High School building and who eighteen years ago deserted his wife and children in that city, has paid for that desertion at the age of sixty-nine by giving his life to protect the wife of his employer.

Manning, one of untold thousands of cases of a gifted man brought low by drink, was shot and killed at the country place of Y. K. Smith, Chicago advertising man, by a young woman who, it is alleged, had sworn to "get" both

H. V. Manning Smith and his wife.

The brilliant Waltham man of old, once a highly respected and widely popular employe of the city, was revealed at the end as a humble gardener.

SLAIN BY GIRL.

The young woman with the pistol here Wanda Stopa, once a stenographer in the office of the United States district attorney in Chicago, but who diligently studied law while thus employed, and three years ago was admitted to the bar.

Smith, associated with John H. Denham & Co., says the girl had demanded that he divorce Mrs. Smith and marry her, at once.

She had gone back to her home in Detroit, but on Monday of this week telephoned to Smith from New York, he says, that she was "coming to Chicago immediately."

YOUTH CONFEDERATE.

The shooting took place in the living room of the Smith house, Miss Stopa was accompanied by a young man described as Ted Glasgow.

The young woman had fired two shots at the wife of the man of whom she was enamored when Manning, caretaker of the Smith estate, "only a laborer," threw himself as a shield between Mrs. Smith and the revolver.

After killing the aged Manning and firing two shots at Mrs. Smith, the girl and her companion returned to their automobile and headed for the city.

"Now," she shouted, "I'm going downtown and kill him, too."

Their relations, Smith said, had been "merely platonic." He believes the young woman to be mentally unbalanced. She is only twenty-three years old. Mrs. Smith is an invalid.

"She is the brainiest girl I ever met," Smith says of the alleged murderess. "She was born in Poland of peasant parents, came here as a child and by sheer pluck was graduated from John Marshall Law School with high honors."

News of the shooting came to a Waltham which had almost forgotten Henry Manning and only the older attaches at City Hall could recall him.

"For the past eight years," Henry V. Manning, a son, declared at his home, No. 244 Crescent street, "every member of the family except my mother had given him up for dead."

MISSING FOR YEARS

"That was the last time we heard from him. At that time he was living at No. 27 Vine street, Chicago. Efforts to trace him beyond that place proved unsuccessful. I was sure he had passed out, but my mother dreamed dreams, until today, that there would be a happy ending to the story. Poor mother!

"My father, a draftsman, came to Waltham with his family many years ago from England. He was ambitious, capable, lively, made friends easily and was aimed for the heights when first the love of company and then the love for drink got the better of him.

STARTED LIFE ANEW.

"At 51, he realized what had happened and determined to go away somewhere and try to make a new beginning. The place he selected was Chicago. We shall never know what happened to him there."

Mrs. Emma I. Manning and one of her daughters reside on Crescent street. Two of the daughters are married and live in Waltham. Henry, Jr., is employed by the Watch Company. Another son resides in Lancaster, Pa.

BRUTAL MOTHER IS GIVEN JAIL TERM

DOROTHY MAXWELL

Six year-old girl whose face bears tell-tale marks of beating, inflicted, it is alleged, by her step-mother, given jail sentence today. It was alleged by the girl's father that her throat bears serious cuts inflicted with a pair of scissors and that the step-mother also used a razor on the child's mouth and over the eye. Inset shows Harry Maxwell, the father, who told the police he believes his wife is mentally unbalanced.

'PIGEONHOLED' REQUESTS FOR PROSECUTION

Thompson, Federal Trade Commissioner, Makes Further Charges Against Daugherty

Washington, April 25 (I.N.S.).—The Senate Daugherty committee today continued its investigation of charges that former Attorney-General Harry M. Daugherty failed to prosecute violations of the anti-trust laws.

Hunter Thompson, chairman of the Federal trade commission, charged the Department of Justice under Daugherty, failed to prosecute a number of complaints filed by the commission against alleged monopolies in the stationery business.

Thompson said the department either neglected the complaints without acting on them or else "pigeonholed" the commission's request for prosecutions.

JAIL MOTHER

a fifteen-minute period in all, she declared.

Sergeant Magner and Special officer Bonner of the Charlestown station testified that the hook to which she hung the boy by his thumbs was nearly six feet above the floor.

Billy's father, in his testimony, said he noticed the boy's condition on Sunday, April 13, and took him to Dr. Lyons. The physician, after an examination, ordered the boy sent immediately to the City Hospital.

Dr. Lyons testified that Billy's body, from his waist down, was a mass of bruises. In addition, he had an injured arm and bruises on his chest and back.

EMMA GOLDMAN DRIVEN FROM STAND

Communistic Hecklers Break Up Meeting of American Anarchists at Berlin

Berlin, April 25.—Several hundred Communistic hecklers broke up a party protest meeting, staged by Emma Goldman and Alexander Berkman, of the American Anarchistic Association, on behalf of the imprisoned anti-communist leaders in Czechoslovakia and Russia.

Emma Goldman

Despite her promise given the German authorities upon the close Berlin as her residence that she would abandon politics, Miss Goldman remained on speakers' stand, but made no attempt to continue her speech.

Miss Goldman was unable to finish her speech, which was interrupted by noisy interruptions from Communists, who finally drowned out the gathering and held a meeting their own. At the latter meeting Miss Goldman remained on speakers' stand, but made no attempt to continue her speech.

PLANE AND HER CREW ARE REPORTED LOST

Dover, Eng., April 25 (I.N.S.).—English and Dutch airplanes failed to locate a Fokker machine carrying a pilot and two passengers. The airplane departed from Ijmuiden and is feared that he fell into the English Channel. All aboard are reported to have been lost.

Old-Fashioned Girl Falls In Faint At Masher's Hug

New York, April 25.—That rarity—a really old-fashioned girl, was found and lost here.

She was riding on a downtown Lexington avenue subway. A masher placed his arm around her and smirked. Did she stare at him indignantly or not?

"Lay off that stuff, kid," Nemesis fainted.

By the time she regained consciousness the train had reached Brooklyn Bridge. She blushed forlornly, refused to appear as complainant against the masher and disappeared in the throng.

The masher was taken before Magistrate Ferdinand Pecora for further investigation and sentence.

FORD DRIVING LOCOMOTIVE ON ANNUAL OUTING

Marquette, Mich., April 25.—Henry Ford is learning to drive a locomotive. Harvey Firestone, millionaire rubber manufacturer, is going to be fireman, while Thomas Edison engineer.

They, when their party leaves for Detroit, will ride in the engine cab of the Ford special train, during the upper peninsula of Michigan on an inspection tour of Mr. Ford's properties.

Ford can "learn to his new job" in the cab of a freight engine, according to the information with the agreement that he will handle no engine of superior power, they said, is a foregone conclusion.

Edison is rather fat around the middle to be a fireman, Ford assistants told the party. The train is moving today.

N. H. ROAD TO CUT OFF SOME TRAINS

New Schedules Effective as Daylight Plan Becomes Effective

With the advent of daylight saving on Sunday many changes in train schedules will go into effect on the New Haven road. A new time table was issued today. It was the result of careful perusal. Although railroads continue to operate on Eastern standard time, commuters on Shore Line and Mount Hope divisions will find the majority of their regular trains set back an hour to accommodate their patrons.

The New Haven, however, has taken advantage of the occasion to improve train service and to adapt new trains to the daylight schedule. Trains to North Easton and way stations will be affected somewhat as a result of the road's plan to divert two local trains from North Easton to Taunton, which is to be developed as a terminal.

Two new cars have been built to Hamden, Stonington, Hudson and other points to save railroad officials a round trip mileage movement.

COUNTRY CHILD IS HEALTHIEST—HOOVER

New York, April 25.—In spite of the city doctors and scientist who insist that the country child is not the healthiest, Secretary Hoover of Commerce Hoover declared today.

"The people we have not yet encountered ourselves to living in cities," Mr. Hoover said. "Our hearts are those of an agricultural and country-living people and we have yet to adapt ourselves completely to city life. That process must go with the children and that is the work being developed by the association."

'Madly in Love,' Says Girl Who Killed Manning

New York, April 25 (I.N.S.).—Greenwich Village laughed and didn't believe Wanda Stopa when she announced she intended to kill because of a lost love.

But today they know Wanda meant what she said, although—by mistake—she killed the wrong man.

Wanda, twenty-three, came here from Chicago, where she was an assistant district attorney, about three weeks ago. She was a pleasing little wisp of a girl, who tried hard to smile, but her newly made friends in the artists' colony knew there was something sad back of her smile.

"HOPELESSLY IN LOVE."

She tried to be gay, but didn't succeed. One day she told a few close friends this story:

"I'm in love, hopelessly in love—and with a married man. The affair is going to end soon, and I'm going to end it.

"I could forget this man. I have been in love with him ever since I first met him in Chicago two years ago. The worst of it I am married myself—foolishly married to a Russian Count. I found my real sweet heart after I married.

"I tried to break away from the new love. It wasn't to be. Then I asked my husband to kill me, to kill the man in the case, too. But he wouldn't.

SHE COULDN'T FORGET.

"If I could forget, I tried. I left Chicago and the man. I came here. But I tried I can't forget him.

The girl took off her rings and gave them to friends, saying she "wouldn't need them any more." She gave away a string of beads.

"I won't need them any more," she said. "It's all going to end soon."

SENTENCED ON THEFT FROM AUTO FIRM

George H. Johnson, of Cedar street, Roxbury, charged with larceny of $300 from a Massachusetts avenue automobile firm, was sentenced to six months in the House of Correction by Judge Hayden in Roxbury Court today. Sentence was suspended.

Charles Governor, of Highland street, Roxbury, charged with receiving stolen goods, was given four months' suspended sentence. William Lesnor, of Cambridge street, West End, was found not guilty of receiving stolen goods.

ROYAL ARCANUM CONVENES IN HUB

More than 125 delegates from all parts of Massachusetts convened at the American House for the opening session of the 47th grand council, Royal Arcanum. Mayor Curley welcomed the visiting representatives and presented a key to the Brannan of Roslindale.

Announcement was made that two new councils had been added to the order, located at Brookline and Worcester, making a total of 124 Massachusetts councils, with a total of 8300 members.

STRICT N. Y. AUTO BILL BECOMES LAW

Albany, N. Y., April 25.—Governor Smith today signed the state-wide automobile bill requiring that the driver of every car be licensed, and that no person under eighteen be permitted to operate an automobile. The new law creates a motor vehicle commissioner in the State Tax Department with broad powers to revoke licenses.

A jail sentence of not less than sixty days must be imposed upon a person convicted of driving a car while intoxicated.

Submarine Ball Tonight Attracts Hub Smart Set, Says Betty Alden

By BETTY ALDEN.

THE widely-heralded Submarine Ball should furnish plenty of unrefined social excitement.

Mrs. Harold J. Coolidge.

An astonishing array of "fishy" costumes will make their way to Horticultural Hall, which has been transformed into a gorgeous deep-sea scene for the occasion. With Joseph Linden Smith lending his genius to the decorations, something distinctly unusual is assured.

All sorts of tropical deep-sea plants and fish will help to make a most effective scene. For those who don't care to dance a "Neptune's throne" has been arranged from which they may watch the devotees of Terpsichore. All who attend are expected to wear some garb suggestive of the sea.

Of the notable patronesse list is Mrs. Harold J. Coolidge, the committee including such success-assuring names as Mrs. Reginald Foster (Frances Hoar), Mrs. N. Penrose Hallowell, Henry G. Vaughn, Mrs. Charles M. Cabot, Mrs. F. L. W. Richardson, F. Murray Forbes and William Stanley Parker.

MASTERY OF OLD AGE AT HAND, SAYS DOCTOR

Study of Endocrine Glands Will Also Control Insanity, He Claims

Washington, April 25.—Science is approaching mastery over insanity, old age and other ills through the study of the endocrine glands and discovery of means for their control, Dr. William J. A. Bailey of New York declared in a paper today before the division of chemistry of medical products of the American Chemical Society.

Describing development of basic knowledge about endocrine radiation with the Gamma ray as being of transcending importance to the human race, Dr. Bailey, who is director of the American endocrine laboratories, declared, "We have cornered aberration, disease, old age, and, in fact, life and death themselves in the endocrines.

"If we look more to the endocrine glands and less to the head," he said, "we have an excellent chance of eradicating insanity."

Dr. Bailey's paper was one of a number read today at various professional meetings of the 2,000 delegates attending the society's convention.

MUST PAY WIFE HE NEGLECTED $50 A WEEK

Hub Business Man Accuses Mate of Extravagance; Latter Tells Pitiful Story

Supported by the testimony of officers who investigated her pitiful story and attended by a nurse because of her weakened condition, Mrs. Wellma MacDonald, who appeared her husband, Horace L. MacDonald, of Ingleet, was awarded $50 a week by Judge Thomas Dowd in Municipal Court today.

Mrs. MacDonald, who is soon to become a mother, came here a few days ago from Connecticut to join her husband. She had no money. In desperation she appealed to Patrolman George McCaffrey of District Attorney O'Brien's office.

McCaffrey, with Probation Officer Frank Dudley, brought the husband into court today. He is a business man with offices in the building at No. 282 Washington street.

MacDonald testified that he had given his wife $3,000 during the past seven months. He said she was extravagant.

"Wore is the proof of your statement," Judge Dowd demanded.

MacDonald produced two cancelled checks for $10 and $25.

"Is that all?" Judge Dowd asked.

MacDonald then entered into a lengthy peroration concerning his alleged liberality toward his wife and the latter's "extravagance."

The court stopped him. MacDonald was then ordered to pay his wife $50 a week.

Don't Give Hubby a Nagging Earache, Says Film Star

HELEN CHADWICK
Hollywood movie actress who tells how to keep home happy.

Helen Chadwick and Pat O'Malley Give List of "Don'ts" to Keep Course of Matrimony Running Smoothly.

Hollywood, April 25.—The "don't" bug has hit the movies hard. Two more, an actor and an actress, who carry leading roles, have joined the ranks.

Helen Chadwick, because of her experience in "Why Men Leave Home," issued the following to brides:

Don't nag—it gives men an earache.

Don't let your house or yourself get untidy. A wife is judged by the condition of her home.

Don't gossip about the neighbor's troubles.

Don't tramp hubby's ace in a bridge game.

Don't make catty remarks if he snores. Be sympathetic.

Don't get millinery mania or clothes complex.

Don't get sore if he shows he likes a pretty face in your presence.

Don't cabaret unless he is with you.

Don't encourage "in-laws" to park at your house.

Don't grouch if he's late for dinner. Smile a lot.

DON'T FOR MEN.

Pat O'Malley gives the following "don't" to bridegrooms.

Don't wait till she's dead to send her flowers.

Don't be a "lightwad." Treat her like a sweetheart.

Don't be a killjoy. Make every day a honeymoon.

Don't take in boarders, male or female.

Don't sneer at her dog if she has one.

Don't think she's a dumbell. Treat her human.

Don't forget she works as hard as you do, and gets less.

Don't make a pass over another woman unless she's present.

Don't be a bully. She may fool you.

Don't love her less or yourself more.

FINNEY, ASSISTANT TO FALL, IN OIL SUIT

Los Angeles, April 25.—Edward C. MURPHY'S RISE STARTED IN HIS SALOON

Hagan, Cast Aside, Confided His Woes While Intoxicated, and the Start Was Made

New York, April 25 (I.N.S.).—Charles F. Murphy, boss of Tammany Hall, got into politics by accident—he wanted to do a good turn for a friend.

And because of the success he then achieved he gave up his saloon business, which was said to be paying him $15,000 a year, and plunged into politics. This was in 1892.

Since that time Murphy has been one of the dominant figures in New York politics and in recent years in national politics. He held the longest unbroken record as chief of the Tammany Hall wigwam.

The political beginning of Murphy had its inception when Edward Hagan, one of the lieutenants of Edward Francis Spinola, then the district leader, walked into Murphy's most pretentious saloon and, a bit under the weather, complained that "Boss" Spinola had turned him down for the Assembly.

BACKED HAGAN.

Murphy suggested that Hagan get on an independent ticket. Hagan agreed to the plan and Murphy organized clubs throughout the district behind the insurgent movement.

Hagan won the leadership of the district through the fight that followed. Spinola went to the discard and Murphy became the first lieutenant to the leader he had made at the bar of his chief saloon.

When Hagan died Murphy succeeded him to the leadership of the eighteenth district.

Mayor Van Wyck made Murphy a dock commissioner and he disposed of the saloons.

With the new dignity of dock commissioner, Murphy went into the trucking and contracting business with his brother, John.

RICH CONTRACTS.

The Pennsylvania Railroad, the New York, New Haven and Hartford and the Consolidated Gas Company were among those which saw upon which side of the municipal and political bread was spread the butter, and awarded him rich contracts that laid the basis of his fortune.

When he became leader of Tammany Hall in 1902 he took title to the home that had been the former residence of former Mayor George B. McClellan and became an active and lucky operator in the stock market.

Murphy came to the leadership of Tammany through the old "drum" route of Daniel F. McMahon, Louis F. Haffen and himself. "Big Bill" Devery, then in his heyday, referred to them as "Spot," "Two Spot" and "Joke." But it must be recalled that the title "Joke" was not that bestowed on Murphy. His soubriquet was "Sport."

Devery lived to see Murphy "break" him and toss him into the discard along with all of the others who dared oppose his singular and remarkable power.

"EATING PEAS WITH KNIFE."

Murphy, in time, absorbed the other members of the "trinity" and then moved up to Delmonico's for his headquarters. There the man who had started on First avenue in a saloon became the renter of a handsome suite where his chief political conferences were held.

There his mentor of J. Sergeant Cram, who had both means and social position. The wags always referred to Mr. Cram as "the man who taught Murphy to "quit eating peas with a knife."

It was little known that from this Fifth avenue aerie Murphy organized what was known to the intimates as the "Murphy secret service." It was a chain of business men, bankers, lawyers, doctors and teachers who reported to "the chief" concerning the state of opinion, of politics and business.

Many of the best known men in the city had clandestine touch with the organization through this camarilla of advice and counsel.

NAMED WILSON.

Murphy took a prominent place in national politics and allied himself with the late Roger Sullivan, Democratic boss of Chicago and Thomas F. Taggart, the boss of Indiana. The three, for many years, went into national conventions with such a formidable block of votes that they had a leading place in the determination of issues.

Murphy got credit for having thrown the balance of power to Wilson in 1912. He was likewise accredited with having put over James M. Cox at San Francisco in 1920. The nomination of Alton B. Parker in 1904 is another of the items in the Murphy national experience.

Murphy's political life was a storm from start to finish. No man was ever fought with such bitterness—and so little avail. Hardly a year passed since Fire Gaynor mayoralty election in which the fusionists carried all offices excepting the mayoralty, without requiring rumors of his retirement.

Governor William Sulzer was the worst picking the boss ever did. Sulzer had a ride born in the Albany mansion when he broke with Murphy, and Murphy, following his rule, proceeded to "get" Sulzer. An impeachment that is famous in the history of American tricks, sent Sulzer out of the executive job to private life.

many activities and considerable traveling.

Last Winter he participated in a conference at Hyerth, Ind., with Thomas Taggart of Indiana and George Brennan of Illinois, the triumvirate of organized democracy and at that time it was widely reported and well understood that the trio had turned "thumbs down" on William G. McAdoo.

Other conferences followed, the last being at Hot Springs, Va., last week with Taggart, from which he had only just returned.

STRICKEN SUDDENLY.

First intimation that Murphy was in a weakened condition came shortly after 8 o'clock today when he complained that he felt weak about the head.

Dr. John E. Herrity, who lives next door to the Murphy home, was summoned. Murphy told him he felt the pressure getting worse.

Murphy's daughter, Mrs. James A. Foley, and her husband, Surrogate Foley, and Father Lawrence A. Hogan were sent for. The boss died an hour later, conscious to the end.

Murphy was at Tammany Hall last night and seemed to be in good physical condition. He had held a number of conferences with Democratic leaders.

LIKE FICTION

History will record Murphy as one of Tammany's greatest leaders, and as a Democrat who in his time played a star role on the country's political stage for more than twenty years.

His rise to the leadership of the most powerful single political organization in the country reads like fiction. Like so many of his predecessors in the famous wigwam on Fourteenth street, he came up from the ranks, up from the same lower East Side of New York that has produced so many colorful personalities in state and national affairs.

The East Side is poverty and Murphy came from it. He was a hand in a wire factory as a boy.

Later he quit this job and drove one of the old Fourteenth street horse cars. From this he graduated into the saloon business, where he prospered, finally becoming the owner of four establishments and it was in this environment he became absorbed in politics.

When Murphy was a youth he was a ball player of considerable neighborhood fame. The East Side in those days had high respect for physical prowess as well as political.

STAR BALL PLAYER.

Murphy became captain of a district team and it was recorded that under his leadership his club went through an entire season without a defeat. At this time Murphy was adding to his popularity and his acquaintance throughout the populous East Side.

He formed a club, finally, of his ball players and their followers and it grew in power until at last it became a political factor.

This was Murphy's start on a career that was to lead him to the heights of power in not only state but national politics.

His first real fling at politics came when he backed Edward Hagan, an independent candidate for the Assembly in his district. Hagan was elected and the organization defeated. Consequently the organization decided to take the rising young Irishman into its councils.

MAKER OF MAYORS.

Mayor Van Wyck, then Tammany mayor of New York soon after this gave Murphy one of the few political offices he ever held. He made him dock commissioner. After this Murphy sold his saloons and went into the contracting and trucking business with his brother.

From this time on, Murphy's rise in New York politics was little short of phenomenal. Through the great power he wielded in municipal affairs he became known as the maker and breaker of mayors.

ARMY BALLOON IS WRECKED; 3 LEFT IN RACE

2 Contenders in Aerial Contest Are Forced Down During Heavy Storm

Wagoner, Okla., April 25.—The army balloon S-5, one of the entrants in the national elimination race was wrecked when the pilot, Lieutenant Ashley McKinley descended from a heavy cloud to obtain his bearings and struck a tree.

Neither Lieutenant McKinley or his assistant was injured. A heavy rain was falling when the balloon was brought down.

One of the balloons passed over Webster, Kan., early today, traveling at a height of about 1,000 feet. Its identity was not learned.

Only three of the seven starters now remain in the race.

The balloon piloted by Captain E. W. Hill and his aide, Lieut. J. P. Pwell, landed in Moline, Kansas, during an electrical storm. Neither was injured. The balloon was Number 2.

Balloon S-14, piloted by Major Norman W. Peek, with Lieutenant W. A. Gray, aide, was forced to land at St. Ansgar, Iowa, near the Minnesota line, during the same storm. But for this storm, the major believes, he could have broken a world's record.

CODMAN SQUARE CLINIC SAVES MANY KIDDIES

Nurses Are Also on Call for Adult Patients in Their Homes

This is the fifty-third of a series of articles which is a sequel to this newspaper's investigation of medical quackery in Greater Boston.

If you are not acquainted with reputable physicians and wish to make sure of obtaining expert advice and fair dealing the series will show you how to avoid quacks by patronizing Boston's health centres, the best in the country.

One of the best patronized clinics of the Community Health Association is that located at Codman square, Dorchester, in the basement of the Library Building.

Quack Doctors have no place at this station. It is in charge of accredited physicians and graduate, registered nurses.

On Wednesday and Friday afternoon from 2 to 4:30 a baby hygiene clinic is held. About 80 to 90 children a week attend these sessions, being brought by their parents.

As in the other baby clinics of the Community Health Association, the baby, when first registered, is weighed, examined, and a feeding formula prescribed. This formula is put together the next morning at the child's home by the mother under the supervision of one of the nurses.

EXAMINED WEEKLY.

The child is then brought to the station from week to week in order that the doctor may note its progression, and also detect in its infancy any disease, whereupon the mother is referred to a private physician or hospital, as this is a health station only whose duty is to keep well babies well.

Children under two are also given the toxin-antitoxin treatment for diphtheria here.

Every Thursday afternoon from 2 to 4 an Infantile Paralysis Clinic is held. Children up to 12 years of age are cared for here.

A Pre-Natal class for mothers is also held every other Wednesday afternoon from 2 to 4.

NURSES ON CALL

Eight nurses cover the general work of the district from this station which maintains an office at No. 407 Talbot avenue. A phone call to Dorchester 0411 will bring a nurse into the home of a patient. She will provide the regular nursing visit going to the sickest patient first to which a charge of 75 cents a visit is made when the patient can pay it, or will come at an appointed hour for an additional sum.

This station is in charge of Drs. J. K. Wardell and R. F. James; and the nurses in charge are Mrs. Gertrude Brown, Mrs. Alice Macordum and Miss Anna Fitzpatrick, who are assisted by a corps of volunteer workers from the Dorchester district, who assist in the weighing and care of babies, thus relieving the nurses for more important work.

SECOND PLACE FOR GOV. SMITH ON TICKET

Tammany Leaders, Fearing They Cannot Get Him to the Top, Favor Vice-Presidency

New York, April 25 (I.N.S.)—Raiston and Smith.

It may be the wish is father to the thought, but this is the ticket a number of Tammany Democrats believe will emerge ultimately from the catch-as-catch-can convention which the Democrats bring to Madison Square Garden eight weeks hence.

It is the ticket, moreover, that is figuring heaviest in the pre-convention talk and calculation of Tammany leaders.

It is even being reflected in the betting mart in Wall Street. One commission house announced today the posting of $3,500 to $1,000 that the Indiana Senator, who looks like former Cleveland, will be the nominee.

No disloyalty to Governor Al Smith, Tammany's favorite son, is contemplated by Tammany leaders in thus according him second place on the ticket.

Tammany's leaders privately acknowledge that nominating the New York Governor for President is going to be an exceedingly difficult, if not impossible, task.

CROWLEY PROMOTES THREE EXECUTIVES

New York, April 25.—The first changes in operating executives of the New York Central lines have been made by P. E. Crowley, president of the road. Timothy Wallace Evans, assistant general manager, has been made assistant vice-president in the operating department. He will take the place of Raymond D. Starbuck, who succeeded Mr. Crowley as vice-president in charge of operation. Frederick Ely Williamson, general superintendent, has been made assistant general manager.

EXPRESS HITS CART, DRIVER IS UNHURT

A Shore Line express of the N. Mr. White, the dog, and the horse escaped serious injury.

The recent one-cent sale of the Francis G. Kane Post, No. 60, American Legion, was so successful that the organization is to repeat the idea again this evening at the post headquarters, Meeting House Hill, Dorchester. The proceeds are to be used for the benefit of the wounded veterans.

VETERAN WRITER INJURED IN CRASH

James C. O'Leary, veteran baseball writer of the Boston Globe, was painfully injured on the way from a baseball game at Braves Field in his automobile driven by John Hill, a Yellow cab at Eldridge street and Hyde Park avenue, Roxbury, today. O'Leary was thrown out, suffering a fracture of the right collar bone. He arose unassisted and insisted on walking to his home, No. 710 Hyde Park avenue, where he was treated by Dr. H. A. Sibley. Passengers on the car were shaken up and several were cut by flying glass.

MacGregor and Co., furniture, the latter of Andover, Mass., was burned. The fire was discovered by Abbott Campbell, who was listening to a radio concert. The loss will be $20,000, and a shoe operatives have been thrown out of work by the fire.

MRS. BAUER WAS SEEN IN AUTO BY GIRL

Identifies Hoffman, Held as Murder Suspect, as Driver of Car

New York, April 25.—Harry Hoffman, suspect in the murder of Mrs. Maude Bauer, has been positively identified as the man with whom she was seen riding a short time before she was killed on Staten Island, March 25.

District Attorney Albert Fach of Richmond County said Barbara Fahrn, 12-year-old girl, who saw the woman riding in an automobile shortly before her body was found, had identified Hoffman as the driver of the car.

The girl said she saw Mrs. Bauer halt the driver of the death car and climb into the rear seat when he stopped.

One month ago, Mrs. Maude Bauer, a devoted wife and mother of two young children, was found beaten and shot to death beside a deserted road in the Chelsea section of Staten Island.

In a sedan she had successfully fought off an attack by a man who had offered her a lift to a garage, where she hoped to get assistance to get out of the mire her machine in which sat her mother and the babies.

The murderer struck her on the head with the butt of a pistol, cut her on the jaw with his fist, but she was game and fought her way out of the machine. He then shot her through the stomach and throat and left her lying in the swampy ground beside the road.

LONDON GOES WILD OVER DOUG AND MARY

London, April 25.—A cordon of London bobbies joined hands and danced chunkily, behind, in front and at the sides of Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks at the American Legion's annual ball in order to protect the American movie stars from the admiring crowds.

Outside the ballroom, thousands had waited for hours to catch a glimpse of the popular Americans, and the police are authority for saying that no party of American tourists struggling for a sight of European royalties ever compared with the eagerness of the Londoners trying to get a peep at Douglas and Mary.

GIRL POET, AGED 11, HAS BOOK PUBLISHED

Muse First Inspired by Janitor's Red-Headed Son at Age of Nine

New York, April 25.—Nathalia Crane, who is ten going on eleven, and who wrote her first poem a year and a half ago in a burst of admiration for the janitor's son, has been inspired by Thomas Seltzer, publisher, that he intended to bring out a volume of her poems.

Nathalia lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Crane, in Brooklyn, and is a student at Public School 139.

"She's a good poet," her father said, "but she isn't very far ahead in school. However, I'm mighty proud of her just the same."

HAS PROLIFIC MUSE.

Since she began writing at the age of nine, Nathilia has had published upwards of a hundred poems in newspapers and magazines. They have been printed in all parts of the United States and in Canada and England. She uses a typewriter, reads Kipling and James Whitcomb Riley and has developed her lyrical gift.

Her first poem, which had to do with the janitor's son in more passionate measure, however, began:

Oh, I'm in love with the janitor's boy,
He's busy as he can be;
And down in the cellar he's making a raft
Out of an old settee.

He'll carry me off, I know that he will,
For is a hair is exceedingly red;
And the only thing that occurs to me,
Is to dutifully shiver in bed.

In her more recent poem, however, she strikes a different note. In "Tomorrow" she begins:

"The sun shall shine in ages yet to be,
The musing moon illumine pastures dim,
And afterward a new nativity
For all who slept the dreamless interim."

OF MAYFLOWER STOCK.

Nathalia is a descendant of John and Priscilla Alden, and was the guest of honor at the recent dinner of the Alden kindred at the Hotel McAlpin. Although she is not unusually far advanced in school, her parents say she early showed signs of precision and was able to talk at the age of six months. Now and then, when her vocabulary gives her a little trouble, she goes to her father for help.

The girl has made it her habit to cash the checks as soon as they arrive, spend a very little on gratifying certain personal vanities and then put the rest in the bank. She has no intention of becoming a prodigal.

QUAKE SHOCKS SUBSIDE IN HAWAIIANS

Disturbances Wreck Rail Line and Open Up Many Deep Fissures in Ground

Hilo, T. H., April 25 (A.P.).—Seismic disturbances of the last few days have dwindled, the last being felt at 4:30 a. m. yesterday.

The subsidence of the railroad tracks at Kapoho, previously reported at four feet, has increased to eight. It will be several days before the railway can resume operation.

Workmen and police, attempting to go to Kapoho to repair the railroad, were blocked by a new opening in the earth fifteen feet wide and thirty-five feet deep.

Superintendent Boles of the Hawaiian National Park reports that with the Geophone running lava was detected some distance beneath the earth's surface. In the Puna district there were approximately 100 fissures a foot wide and thirty feet deep running toward the Kalauea volcano. The Hilo seismograph recorded forty-three temblors during the past twenty-four hours.

THE PROOF AT LAST!

Well-known scientist states that Coffee is a safe and desirable beverage for overwhelming majority of adults

PROFESSOR SAMUEL C. PRESCOTT, Director of the Department of Biology and Public Health at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, has just completed a three years' Scientific Coffee Research.

The results of this investigation are especially interesting because various suggestive inferences regarding the wholesomeness of Coffee have been circulated for years and have been allowed to go unchallenged simply because no thorough scientific investigation of Coffee had ever been made.

It's different now, because the three years' research has established, by definite scientific method, the fact that Coffee is a safe and desirable beverage for the overwhelming majority of adults. Here's what Professor Prescott says—

"I will say that neither in the dispassionate study of the vast literature on the subject, much of which is medical literature, nor as a result of our long-continued studies, have we been forced, as scientific men, to any conviction that well-made Coffee is harmful to the great mass of consumers and, as such, dangerous to public health and welfare. On the contrary, the more deeply we have gone into this matter, the more we have read, the more we have looked up this literature in different languages, the more firmly fixed has become the belief (in fact, I might say it is a belief so strong that it is a conviction) that for the overwhelming majority of adults Coffee is a safe and desirable beverage."

Here is the truth! And coming from such an unquestioned authority, it adds scientific corroboration to the public's own judgment, as expressed by the ever-increasing popularity of Coffee, The Universal Drink.

For Better Coffee Every Day, Follow These Rules

1—See that the Coffee is not ground too coarse.
2—Allow at least a tablespoonful of ground Coffee to a cup of water.
3—Be sure the water boils. Then pour it over the freshly ground Coffee.
4—Serve at once.
5—Never use ground Coffee a second time.
6—Scour the Coffee pot.

Ask your dealer or write direct to us for a copy of the NEW booklet, "For Better Coffee," which explains these rules in detail. Joint Coffee Trade Publicity Committee, 64 Water Street, New York.

The planters of Sao Paulo, Brazil, who produce more than half of all the Coffee used in the United States, are conducting this educational work in co-operation with the leading Coffee merchants of the United States.

'Kiss-Proof' Lipstick Is Guaranteed To Slow Up Divorces

Chicago, April 25.—Lipsticks that are guaranteed to be kiss-proof attracted unusual attention today at the convention of the Illinois Dressmakers' Association. The lipstick is not "kiss-proof"—that is, it is not proof against a kiss—but it tells no tales. After it has been applied one may kiss most ardently the reddest-lipped girl and go home without carrying the imprint.

Demonstrators told of many homes being wrecked and divorces hastened because beauty experts have not provided this simple safeguard. They told of one man who went home with a red imprint on his brow. Another showed one on his chin and a third had the incriminating evidence on his ear when his wife met him.

He tripped on the marble stairs and fell down an entire flight, suffering a fracture of the hip and possible internal injuries. He was taken to the City Hospital by police of the Back Bay station. His name is on the danger list.

SOPHOMORES AT DARTMOUTH IN REVOLT

Declare War Against Seniors by Dropping Traditional Picture Fight

Hanover, N. H., April 25.—Student warfare broke out on the Dartmouth College campus when the sophomore class, by unanimous vote, decided to refuse to abide by the decision of Palaeopitus, senior governing body, for staging the traditional picture fight.

Led by star athletes, the 1926 class decided to drop one of the most typical, picturesque and ancient traditions of the college.

Ed. Dooley, quarterback on the team that defeated Harvard, 14 to 6, in the Cambridge Stadium, made an impassioned appeal to his classmates to refrain from entering the class contest with the freshmen and not to lift a hand if the 1927 men decide to cast aside their pea green caps.

George Tully, guard on the Green basketball team, also exorted his class to stand behind their ideal of a liberal college by refusing to participate "in such horse play" as the supposed rivalry of the classes in the picture fight entails.

When more conservative students suggested that possibly it might be better to wait, they were hissed from the platform. The vote followed upon the heels of a verdict by Palaeopitus that the tradition should be preserved, despite the fact that the bare majority of a forum group had voted against it.

PATROLMAN COFFEY FACES TRIAL BOARD

Patrolman John J. Coffey of the East Dedham street police station went on trial today before a police trial board of three captains on charges of conduct unbecoming an officer and neglect of duty. The police charge that Coffey became intoxicated, failed to show up at roll call and failed to make out a report when asked. Coffey denied all charges.

According to the police, Coffey was supposed to be home sick, but when a sergeant called at his home he was not there.

GRIFFITH SUES JOLSON FOR $570,000

Claims Comedian Abandoned Part in Movie; Dramatist Asks $250,000

New York, April 25.—D. W. Griffith, Inc., began suit in the United States District Court, against Al Jolson, the blackface comedian, claiming $571,536.72 for alleged breach of contract in connection with the actor's agreement to appear in motion pictures under the direction of Mr. Griffith.

According to the complaint Mr. Jolson started on the first picture but ...mand the end ... of June, 1923 ... willfully and deliberately ... to ... cond his work thereof and ... fused to proceed further with his duties under the contract."

Al Jolson

The result of this, says the complaint, was that damages and loss were suffered in excess of $5,000.

Moses L. Malevinsky of O'Brien, Malevinsky & Driscoll, who is acting for for D. W. Griffith Corporation, explained the situation today thus:

"There are two suits against Mr. Jolson in connection with this matter. The first has been filed by Anthony Paul Kelly, the dramatist, who spent eighteen months in bringing Jolson and Griffith together. Mr. Kelly claims $250,000. The second is the one filed today."

EVELYN SAYS THAW BACKS CLIFFORD

Atlantic City, April 25.—Evelyn Nesbit said today regarding Jack Clifford's divorce suit:

"Clifford has not done a thing all these years and now he gets very busy. You know what that means. It is Thaw again, trying to throw mud at me by getting Clifford to revive his divorce suit. They want to destroy any sympathy that the public may possibly have for me. They have spent thousands of dollars doing this.

"I will fight the Clifford suit to a finish. Everyone on Broadway knows how kind I was to him. I paid for all his scenery and other things, but he always [illegible]."

Perhaps you've noticed that you almost never see a homely girl nowadays. It's the modern modiste that's largely responsible for this happy circumstance.
The homely man may also become extinct when all men come to the realization—as the womenfolks have—that clothes have another mission than merely to cover the body—that nature's shortcomings may often be redeemed by the tailor's art.

South Boston Girl Finds Relatives Unconscious in Bedroom

James Leonard, sixty-five, and his son, Thomas, twenty-four, were found unconscious from gas poisoning today in their bedroom at No. 108 D street, South Boston.

It is believed that father or son, in turning the gas light off last night, left it open, by accident, a fraction of a turn. Miss Carrie Leon and woke up early today, smelled gas, and found her brother and father unconscious.

The father is in a serious condition at the City Hospital. The son's condition is less serious.

James Highland, 60 years old, a laborer at the lower street yards of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, was found dead from gas poisoning today in his room at No. 45 Union Park, South End. Police believe death was accidental.

Hearst Publications, Inc., May Put Out a Bond Issue

Newly Organized Corporation Embraces Some of the Most Successful Newspapers and Periodicals of the World's Greatest Publisher

By RICHARD SPILLANE

Universal Service Financial Editor

NEW YORK, April 25.—To make a success of one big newspaper or big magazine is a considerable achievement. Men who have had experience can testify to that fact.

What, then, of William Randolph Hearst who has 23 newspapers and eight magazines, various of them the leaders in their fields, and who ranks today by far the greatest publisher in the world?

He recently placed some of his most successful properties in a newly organized corporation called Hearst Publications, Inc.

B. C. Forbes says Mr. Hearst may offer securities based on his publications to the public. That statement would not have been made unless there was sound basis for it.

Bond offerings, unless they are those of leading governments or of big corporations, attract little attention outside the circles of the regulars. But a bond issue by William Randolph Hearst will awaken a tremendous interest.

That is altogether natural. The publishing business never has known another man of such ability as a builder or rebuilder, not only of newspapers but of periodicals. He takes hold of a property that has been laggiing, or limping, or seems destined to fall by the way, and puts the thrill of life into it.

If he had done it once or twice it would not be so impressive, but it has been done in so many instances that now it is accepted as a natural result.

No man could do that who did not have the highest talent in his line, and, at the same time, a great and efficient organization. In addition, Mr. Hearst knows the people better than any other publisher in the whole Republic. He knows the people of the East, the West, the North and the South. Otherwise he could not have succeeded so remarkably.

The general public accepts Hearst success as something so obvious that no one can avoid realizing or appreciating it.

At the same time people of the East know only hazily, if at all, the extent of his properties in the West, and uncounted thousands of his newspaper readers know little of his great success with his periodicals.

Some of the things Mr. Hearst has done are little short of amazing. He has not been so much of a builder as a rebuilder. To appreciate this fully look at some of his periodicals.

Consider Harper's Bazar. Mr. Hearst acquired it in June, 1913. It sold at 15 cents a copy, and had a circulation of 50,000 copies. Its advertising aggregated approximately 3,600 lines in the June, 1913, issue, and its revenue from that source was $2,659. The April, 1924, issue carried $5,691 lines of advertising, and the revenue was $120,154.33.

Enlarged, improved, increased in price per copy from 15 cents to 50 cents its advertising swelled nearly 24 times over, and its advertising revenue nearly 50 times over, in a little more than 10 years.

Mr. Hearst took over Motor in 1903 when its circulation was about 9,000 and its advertising limited to 11 pages, yielding about $1,600 per issue. Now its circulation is about 25,000 per issue and its advertising averages $25,000 per issue.

Motor Boating had a circulation of about 9,000 when Mr. Hearst bought it in 1909. Now a circulation is 24,000. Its advertising in 1909 was limited to about 17 pages which brought in about $850 revenue per issue. Now its advertising averages 133 pages per issue and the revenue $17,500 per issue.

Good Housekeeping was purchased in May, 1911. Its circulation approximated 300,000. Its advertising in the May, 1911, issue was 27,942 lines from which the revenue was $38,558.14. Now Good Housekeeping has a circulation of about 1,150,000. The advertising of the May, 1924, issue aggregated 75,698 lines which means $532,974.81.

Cosmopolitan became Mr. Hearst's property in the spring of 1905 when its circulation was 450,000 copies. Now its circulation is 1,700,000. In 1905 its advertising for issue averaged about 15,000 lines and the advertising revenue $27,000. Now the lineage averages 23,000 and the revenue nearly $200,000 per issue.

It is the same story in relation to newspapers. For example, take the five on the Pacific coast. The San Francisco Examiner was not of much account when Mr. Hearst became its pilot, March 4, 1887. Its circulation was about 14,000.

According to the report of the audit bureau its circulation for the six months ending Sept. 30, 1923, averaged 160,347 daily and 218,141 Sunday. Its present circulation is 157,169 daily and 354,351 Sunday. This circulation exceeds that of its nearest competitor 87 per cent on the daily and 149 per cent on the Sunday.

Only three newspapers west of Kansas City carried more advertising in 1923 and two of these were Hearst newspapers, the Los Angeles Examiner, the Los Angeles Herald. The other was the Los Angeles Times.

For the last 8 years the Examiner has largely exceeded all other San Francisco newspapers in advertising volume. In 1923 its advertising revenue was $4,427,005.69, and from circulation $2,240,350.53—a total of $6,667,758.22.

The San Francisco Call and Post, with a circulation of 91,172, leads its nearest competitor, the Bulletin, by 40 per cent, and the News by 57 per cent., and is only 25 per cent. less than the combined circulation of the other evening newspapers.

The revenue in 1923 was $588,988.46 from circulation and $1,481,993.17 from advertising, a total of $2,070,981.63.

Look at the Los Angeles Examiner. Mr. Hearst started it Dec. 12, 1903. Its present circulation is 169,359 daily and 278,616 Sunday.

The daily circulation of the Examiner is exceeded in the territory west of Kansas City by only two other newspapers, the Los Angeles Herald and San Francisco Examiner, both Hearst publications.

On Sunday circulation the Los Angeles Examiner exceeds all other newspapers west of St. Louis. Its total revenue in 1923 was $7,940,764 of which $5,891,840.99 was from advertising.

With a circulation of 177,202 the Los Angeles Herald leads all evening newspapers on the Pacific coast. In 1923 the Herald carried 19,854,910 lines of advertising, being exceeded by only two six-day evening newspapers in the United States—The Chicago Daily News and Columbus, Ohio, Dispatch. Its revenue for 1923 was $6,581,342.38.

The Oakland Post-Enquirer had an advertising lineage in 1923 of 7,463,980 and circulation revenue of $118,819.45. The present circulation is 34,600. When Mr. Hearst bought the paper in December, 1921, its circulation was 20,319, of which 10,000 was in combination with the San Francisco Bulletin.

Nothing in all the history of the publishing business is comparable to the growth in circulation and advertising of the Hearst publications.

MELLON CAPITAL LOSS PLAN REJECTED

Senate Delays Consideration of Income Tax Schedule by Agreement

Washington, April 25.—A proposal of Secretary Mellon designed to check capital loss deductions was rejected by the Senate today without a record vote.

Less than a score of Senators were on the floor when this and several other amendments were acted on without discussion. Consideration of the income tax schedule, the heart of the measure, was delayed by agreement among the leaders on both sides.

Secretary Mellon had estimated $30,000,000 would be gained annually by the government through the capital loss provision, which was agreed to by the House. The Senate Finance Committee opposed it because it considered it unfair in its operation.

The House amendment making gains resulting from the transfer of stock dividend in liquidation proceedings subject to regular income tax rates, rather than the capital gain of 12½ per cent., was rejected in favor of the Treasury draft making these gains taxable at 12½ per cent.

The Senate also rejected a proposal to make gains from the sale of stock dividends held for more than two years subject to regular income rates rather than the capital gain tax of 12½ per cent. This change had been made by a close vote in the House.

SOCIETY BOOTLEGS CAUGHT IN CHASE

Philadelphia, April 25.—Capture of two bootleggers in a motor car by police of Lower Merion township today resulted in seizure of a list of customers said to include the names of thirty socially prominent families.

Police captured the car after pursuit in which they forced it to the side of the road. The men gave their names as Arthur and Robert Cohen. One carried a bankbook showing deposits for one week totaling $4,500. Three changes of license tags were found in the car.

BOY PAINFULLY HURT BY METHUEN AUTOIST

Lawrence, April 25.—Mario Carolo, a seven-year-old Jackson street boy, was painfully injured when struck and knocked down by the automobile owned and driven by Alfred Wolfe of East street, Methuen. The Carolo boy was treated at Lawrence General Hospital for a lacerated wound on the forehead, and bruises about the face and body. Wolfe told the police the boy ran out from behind a parked machine directly in the path of his car.

KRESGE WEDDED TO MRS. HARDEN SHE'S NO. 2

Marriage Announced for Last Week in New York Takes Place Quietly

New York, April 25.—Miss Doris Mercer, formerly Mrs. Mabel D. Mercer Harden, of No. 275 Central Park West, was married to Sebastian S. Kresge, millionaire five and ten-cent store owner, at her apartment.

Only Kresge's daughter, Ruth, and Mrs. Jane Mercer, the bride's mother, were witnesses.

This information was given out by one of Mrs. Mercer's maids shortly after the ceremony, which took place at 11 o'clock in the morning. The girl added that at noon lunch was served at the apartment, after which the couple left on their wedding trip in one of Kresge's automobiles. Neither Mrs. Mercer nor Kresge's daughter could be reached.

The maid said she could not explain the failure of the couple to be married on April 17 as they had announced.

Kresge was divorced in January of this year. His present wife obtained a divorce from Percival Harden, magazine editor, in 1919.

On the application for a marriage license obtained April 16, Kresge gave his age as fifty-six. The bride said she was thirty-one.

SHARKEY AND RECORD IN PUNCHING GO AT ARENA TONIGHT

FRIEDMAN AND NEE IN BANTAM TITLE BOUT

By JACK CONWAY

Two ring titles will hang in the balance at the Boston Arena tonight when Abe Friedman, New England bantamweight champion, and Jack Sharkey, Record, Eddie Williams, East Boston, and Jimmy Nee of South Boston in another ten-round affair.

Jack Sharkey

Eddie Williams, East Boston's latest ring sensation, will oppose Willie Corbett of Somerville and Harvard in an eight-round bout, while another eight-round affair will bring together the hopeful Jim Maloney of South Boston a lightweight contender, and Joe Rivet of Lowell.

It is a fighting show which includes men of class doing the heavy thumping. It is seldom that there has been so much high grade boxing billed for the same card.

Abe Friedman

Despite the activity in the boxing game this week, it is expected that the Arena will be jammed to the rafters tonight. Everybody wants to see Sharkey do his punching. This twenty-three-year-old youth is the former heavyweight champion of the Navy. Since turning to the professional ranks, Eddie Record is the only man who has ever gone more than six rounds with Sharkey.

Record and Sharkey recently engaged in a sensational contest. The decision went to Record, though there were many fans who witnessed the encounter who were of the opinion that Sharkey's tremendous punching entitled him to the verdict.

Record will stand up and swap blows with Sharkey which means the fans will be furnished with another sensational contest. Much has been said about Sharkey's punching and he will be given a real chance of his records.

There will not be many idle moments when Abe Friedman and Tommy Nee go forth to battle for their tussle for the New England bantamweight championship. The contest is at 118 pounds at 3 o'clock which means that the title will be at stake.

Friedman and Nee engaged in a stirring battle at the Arena last Summer. At the end of the eighth frame Nee was leading as a result of his effective work to the body. Abe was obliged to give ground time and again as Nee popped his left into his chin, stinging punches.

Friedman, more experienced than Nee, was able to finish enough in the last two rounds to catch the eyes of the judges.

Since then Nee has beaten Johnny Sheppard of Woburn who has bested Friedman. The South Boston puncher pans to force the issue and believes that by solid, heavy punching he will be able to wear down the skillful Friedman and win the bantamweight title, possibly by a knockout.

Willie Corbett, Harvard student, will try to give Eddie Williams a beating tonight when they meet over the eight round route. Corbett is the only boxer to outpoint Williams since this colorful youngster started whanging his way out front in the pugilistic parade. He says he will repeat his performance tonight. Williams is just as certain his heavy hitting will enable him to stop Corbett.

Jim Maloney, South Boston heavyweight, says he will rock the budding with his punches when he goes into action with Joe Rivet of Lowell.

Jack Conway Picks Sharkey, Friedman, Williams, Maloney

Jack Conway, holder of the world's record for picking winners, hands out the following dope on tonight's Suffolk A. A. show at the Boston Arena

"Sharkey or Record? Perhaps the youth who gets over the first big wallop will win Heavyweights usually rely upon the big sock and those two birds can punch for a fare-the-well. I am picking the sensational Sharkey, who may be fighting Dempsey one of these days, to outpunch Record.

Friedman and Nee have us guessing. This bout is virtually a toss-up, as their meeting at the Arena last Summer was very close. We are picking Friedman to win chiefly on account of his experience and ring skill.

"Eddie Williams is our choice over Willie Corbett, although the latter outpointed the East Boston man in their last meeting.

"Jim Maloney, South Boston heavyweight, carries too many guns for Joe Rivet of Lowell."

Jack has picked fifty-eight winners out of a possible sixty-four this year.

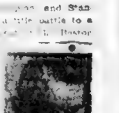
TITLE MAT BOUT TO BE HELD AT ARENA MAY 8

Strangler Lewis, world's heavyweight wrestling champion, and Stanislaus Stasiak, Polish champion, have agreed on terms for a title battle to a finish under the direction of the Old Howard Athenaeum Co., Boston Arena on Thursday evening, May 8, Boston Garden having refused the great match because [illegible]



Strangler Lewis

Paul Bowser, representing the Arena, and Joe Stecher, representing Lewis, signed articles of agreement one week ago up at Worcester. The match will be for the largest wrestling purse ever offered in New England and it is one of the largest purses ever hung up anywhere.

Lewis and Stasiak signed two weeks ago. At the time it was decided that the bout would go to the city offering the largest purse. Bids were received from Chicago, Wichita, Kansas City, Lawrence, Worcester, Brattleboro and several other places. Jack Curley then stepped in with an offer to promote the contest in New York.

Paul Bowser rushed West to [illegible] talk over the matter with Billy Sandow, Lewis' manager. A conference was held in Cleveland, Bowser then came through with his record purse of $12,000 which gave Boston the match.

Before the Old Howard management would agree to put up the money, Lewis and Stasiak were each obliged to agree to post $10,000 as a guarantee of good faith that they would go through with the terms of their contract.

Lewis was forced to consent to wrestle Stasiak after a bitter campaign. Stasiak has defeated every wrestler of note in the country, including Wladek Zbyszko. The champion tried to dodge meeting Stasiak.

The Boston Arena will hardly be large enough to accommodate the great crowd that will want to see this title quarrel. It is to be regretted that the affair is not being staged at a ball park.

MORRILL TO LEAD MIDDLESEX NINE

Joseph Morrill, Jr., of Dedham, has been elected captain of the Middlesex School, Concord baseball nine succeeding Hervey Thompson, North Adams, who left school to enter Deerfield Academy. Morrill is playing first base. He was also captain of the ice hockey sextet at the Concord private school this past season. Morrill is a member of the class of 1924, and so will be lost to the team through graduation in June.

DARTMOUTH MAY BUILD ICE RINK

Hanover, N. H., April 25.—At the close of the two-day session of the Dartmouth Athletic Council, Graduate Manager Norton made public several accomplishments of the meeting.

Harry Hillman, for fourteen years Dartmouth's track mentor, received an award of a straight track "D" in appreciation of his services to the college. He came to Hanover from the New York A. C. fresh from records made as Olympic star.

Out of a long agitation for suitable hockey facilities, the council acted through R. Parkhurst, '15, who presented plans of the proposed closed rink, mentioned them, and will submit them to the trustees for final ratification.

Thomas J. Dent, resident of Lebanon, N. H., star on the championship team of Scotland and coach of teams in his native country, was appointed soccer coach.

Leon Tuck, '15, was reengaged as hockey coach, but it is doubtful whether business conditions will permit his acceptance.

J. A. Hamilton '22, former soccer star and at present connected with the Dartmouth dining association, received appointment as equipment manager of athletic goods which position has been created from undergraduate hands.

OVER 4,000 ENTRIES IN PENN RELAY CARNIVAL

One of the greatest track events of the world, the annual Penn Relay Carnival, gets under way at Franklin Field, Philadelphia, this afternoon. The meet has assumed gigantic proportions during the last few years, until attendance records and interest have eclipsed even the intercollegiate championships. This year's meet will see over four thousand athletes in action, representing 65 institutions.

The half mile event is that which is causing the greatest excitement. Lowe, the fastest half miler in England, who last year bested both the Harvard and Yale runners at the tape, is back in the field. He will face Watters of Harvard in the 880.

Alana Helfrich of Penn State, who was recently declared eligible, leads the list of American half-milers. The Nittany flash is the national and intercollegiate champion, and was largely responsible for last year's victory in the two-mile relay run. Marsters of Georgetown, Chapman of Rice, Cavanaugh and Kirley of Boston College, Reese of Texas University, and Hatfield and Heldge of Michigan, are all good for better than 1.55.

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY HAS TEAM ENTERED

The Cambridge University two-mile team which will compete for the world's championship will be composed of Lowe, Starr, Orchard and Mitchell. Captain Bristowe of the Light Blues has been confined to his bed since he landed in America and may be replaced by Starr in the sprint medley.

Boston College's two-mile team, which expects to push the winner of the event to a new world record if it cannot itself cop the race, will be composed of Bill McKenna, Pat Mahoney, Louis Welch and Tom Cavanaugh. Art Kirley, who was originally scheduled as the lead-off man, is in poor condition and will be saved for the four-mile run.

Wells Morse, star hurdler, and Joe Ingoldsby will probably make up the B. C. one mile, class "B" team. They will face among others Kopplach of Columbia, who will run anchor on the mile team. Starkey, Campbell and Beck complete the New York quartet.

The Boston University mile team will be composed of Fred Onthank, Tom Hearns, George Smith and Chris Higgins. The Back Bay scout will face Colby, Springfield, Union, Fordham, New York University, Bowdoin and Hamilton.

LOCAL COLLEGES ARE WELL REPRESENTED

Harvard, with eighteen men entered places its hopes in the four-mile event. Vin Chapin, Captain Culbeaun and Watters make up the quartet. Each is capable of doing 4.30, but Cavanaugh and Kirley of B. C. have each done 4.25. The University Heights team loom up as the greatest opposition to a Crimson victory.

Harvards one mile medley will be composed of Watters in the 880, Allen in the 440, and Captain Jim Morrill and Jim Broome in the 220. Yale is closely watching its one mile team. Norton, formerly of Exeter, has mixed up with Chapman, Gage and Gelfuss for a winning combination. Yale has not been defeated over this distance in its last four tries.

Holy Cross looms up favorably in the distance medley. The one mile team, which has been practicing in New Jersey all week, will be composed of Burns, Higgins, Mulvihill and Tierney.

RED CHAPMAN SIGNS TO TAKE ON PARKER

Red Chapman, Dorchester 120 pounder, will meet plenty of serious opposition when he clashes with the youthful Terry Parker in the feature ten-round bout at the Armory A. A.'s show at the Grand Opera House on Tuesday night. Chapman is one of the most promising young-sters in the ring game, having defeated Andy Chaney, Terry Martin, Johnny Drew and other fast steppers. His ability to sock and aggressiveness have enabled him to smash his way to the front ranks of his boxing division.

Red Chapman

If Red wins over Parker he will demand consideration from Johnny Dundee. Every boxing promoter in Boston has tried to make a match between Dundee and Chapman, but without success. The Scotch Wop will not have anything to do with Red's game. He apparently is fearful the hard-hitting youngster hand him a knock-out.

Parker is liable to upset Chapman's plans. The South End youth is the former 126 pound national amateur champion. Since joining the ranks of the pros he has piled one success after another.

He gave Kid La Rue, Canadian ring star, a lacing in a furious bout at Lowell. He then slugged Lew Wilson into submission, scoring a couple of knockdowns among other things.

Chapman and Parker will be surrounded by three high class eight-round bouts.

Siki Sets Style for Modern Prodigals

Havana, April 25.—"Battling" Siki, who grew to like Havana so well that he refused to leave when his manager, Bob Levy, returned to New York, now says he is ready to sail Saturday if Levy will cable funds for a ticket, pay his hotel expenses and reimburse friends for various police court fines, it was stated today by Luis F. Ferrer, a promoter whom Levy asked to look after Siki.

Sport Editorial

By CIEL

FAKERS GIVEN THE GATE

GREB and Norfolk have been suspended by the Boxing Commissioners and the ruling must have a very telling effect on other local or visiting boxers who have some little dirty work to put over.

We have just a touch of pity for both boys, but there was absolutely no reason for their putrid performance and they have only themselves to blame.

The action of the boxing board came just in time to save the very life of boxing in the Bay State, as news from reliable sources had Greb and Norfolk rematched here for a date early next month.

What would their second meeting be if they got away with their first fine frost?

We hate to talk about ourselves, but we feel that the sport editorial in this paper had quite a bearing on the final decision of the Boxing Commission.

In reference to the above, it might also be mentioned that the United States Lawn Tennis Association has seen the error of its way and Tilden is in line for his share of fair play and a square deal. The tennis rulers have admitted their mistake and if the net champion who is as good a sport as he is a tennis player will probably attend the peace parley tonight.

Fair play and the up-to-date sports are our main objects in these editorials, and it gives us great pleasure to know that they are so widely read.

Thanks.

I am glad Bobbie leent aiming to be a society man, said Pa. We wasent put on this Plannit to frame up petting partys, said Pa. We was put here to tell a story.

That is rich, said Ma, cumming from you. Wen you were a yung man you had quite a reputashun, said Ma, to her sum of yure old frends tell it. You never backed away from any petting partys wen you were in yure teens, did you? said Ma.

I shud say I did, said Pa. I wud run a mile if a guri smiled at me.

Yes, you wud, said Ma. I can imajin you running a mile if the gurl that smiled at you was a mile away, said Ma, but not otherwise, said Ma.

Then Pa dident say any moar but I will sew sum moar. I will say that petting & kissing gurls is a joak, life is too short. I will close with a potem.

The boy that pets the guris the most
Wont never buy them bacon & toast.

New York, April 25.—Allegations of the mentality of Edward Cosmo, husband of Celia Cosmo, flamboyant bobbed hair bandit, made by Judge Martin of Brooklyn, announced. It was before Judge Martin that the Cosmos pleaded guilty to the long series of robberies that for weeks had baffled police.

This action will automatically delay the imposition of sentence on Cosmo, which was to have occurred next Tuesday.

Cod Liver Oil Now In Tasteless Tablets

McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets

Greatest Flesh Builder

No more will weak, thin, unfortunate children try to resist taking the nasty, nerve-shaking, horrible smelling cod liver oil. It is banished out.

Medical science progresses rapidly and now you can get at your druggist's real, genuine cod liver oil in sugar-coated tablets that young and old can take with ease and pleasure.

Even the run-down and skinny grown-ups, who ought to take cod liver oil, because it really is the greatest vitamine food and builder of healthy flesh in the world, will feel extremely joyful when they read this welcome news.

Of course, doctors have been prescribing cod liver oil in tablets under another name for several years, but it is only of late that one can walk into a drug store and get a box of these flesh-producing tablets just as easy as a bottle of magnesia.

Thin, run-down, anaemic men, women and children who need to grow strong and take on flesh are advised to get a box of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets, and if you don't gain 5 pounds in 30 days just get your money back.

One woman gained fifteen pounds in five weeks, according to her own doctor—another ten pounds in three weeks. A very sickly child, aged nine, twelve pounds in seven months, and now plays with other children and has a good appetite.

Just ask for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets. Legally on any good druggist will tell you that they are wonderful flesh and health builders. Only sixty cents for 50 tablets.

METHODISTS TO GO ON RECORD AGAINST WAR

Exceptions Only Where National Honor or High Moral Principle Is at Stake

North Brookfield, April 25.—The question of war will be considered at the Methodist Episcopal Church in May, and he asked by bishops of the church if we go on record as opposed to war except when national honor or a high moral principle is at stake. That was decided at the meeting of the Methodist Episcopal bishops from over all the world.

Although not officially stated, it was learned from sources of authority that this attitude against war will be incorporated in the "Episcopal Address" which is the platform of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Only one third of that "address" has been discussed thus far. It is expected the remainder will be taken in at the conference of the bishops tonight at the Hotel Somerset.

One of the subjects discussed was the world service program. That work is carried on by the benevolent boards of the church, and during the past five years $30,000,000 have been received and expended for this branch of the service, which comprises thirteen benevolent boards.

820 OF STORES REPRESENTED AT PARTY

More than 1,600 persons attended the Atlantic & Pacific Managers' Benefit Association held in the Copley-Plaza. They represented 820 A. & P. stores in Greater Boston.

Guests at the banquet included Mayor Curley, John A. Hartford, president of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company; W. J. Davidson, the New England superintendent, who sails for Europe next week, and L. W. Thompson, general superintendent of the firm, who was toastmaster.

Mayor Curley emphasized the benefit to the community of the A. & P. stores. Mr. Hartford, who is the son of the first man to start chain stores in the United States, declared the motto of his firm was "making men instead of profits." He said that if he were to visit the ten thousand stores which the company owns, it would take him seven years.

Vocal entertainment and dancing followed the banquet.

1923 ADVERTISING SHOWS BIG GAINS

New York, April 25.—National advertising in newspapers has increased 400 per cent. in the last 10 years and totalled 200,000,000 lines in 1923, according to a report submitted to the annual convention of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association by the Bureau of Advertising.

$8,000,000 DAIRY SYSTEM IS PLANNED

New England Milk Collecting Stations Will Be Taken Over

The first development of a much-discussed New England-wide milk collecting scheme came when a planning committe representing dairy interests of all the New England States completed plans for an $8,000,000 "New England Dairy System" which is proposed to have a membership of between 50,000 and 60,000 dairy farmers.

Meeting at the State House a committee headed by Glen C. Savey, editor of a farming magazine, announced their plans.

Incorporation papers are to be filed in New Hampshire and the following temporary directors for the purposes of organization are named: John S. Murdoch of Providence, counsel for milk interests; Carl Fletcher of Sherburne, Vt.; Richard Patten, managing director of the New England Milk Producers Association; L. A. Carlisle of the New Hampshire Bureau of Markets and Frank Washburn of the Maine Commission on Agriculture.

Every milk collecting station in New England is planned to be bought out by the new company if its plans succeed.

Each member of the system will be required to sign a five year contract to dispose of all their milk to the system. The system will collect the milk at a main collecting plant and ship it in carload lots to the main distributing point, where the milk would be resold to the city dealers.

Milk Used as Fuel In Rock Island Locomotive

Chicago, April 25.—Burning milk, a locomotive of the Rock Island Railroad made a two-hour trip, drawing five cars with 200 passengers. The milk-fed train went from Englewood to Beverly Hills and back; while 150 children, passengers from the Chicago Home for Friendless Children and the Chicago Orphan Asylum pressed their faces against the car windows and cheered.

The purpose was to determine the fact that milk, which can be used as fuel for an engine, is also fuel for the human body.

Damaged powdered milk was thickened with water, dried and broken into lumps for the fuel.

RAIL MEN BALK ON ENDORSING LA FOLLETTE

To Wait Until Nominations Are Made, Says Chief of Conductors

Cedar Rapids, Ia., April 25 (I.N.S.).—A statement denying the Big Four Brotherhood would favor the candidacy of Robert M. La Follette for President on a third party ticket as reported to have been stated by Warren S. Stone of Cleveland, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Engineers, was issued by L. E. Sheppard, president of the Order of Railway Conductors, on his return here today from meetings in the East.

"If Stone is correctly quoted, he spoke for himself alone and not for the brotherhoods," Sheppard said.

"Politics was not discussed at the Eastern meetings and no action by the board of directors for the endorsement of a candidate was taken. We will not indicate whom we shall support until after the nominations are made and the platforms announced."

You Enjoy Real Protection When You Buy An INSPECTED-INSURED USED CAR

This reliable salesman offers you the pick of Boston's finest used cars. He assures you of a real bargain. He assures you of the pleasure and service you expect for your investment. New England's greatest newspaper, ever alert to serve its readers, has inaugurated this new service to protect you. It is absolutely FREE to the dealer and FREE to you.

FREE INSPECTION SERVICE

Insist on seeing the Inspected-Insured certificate on the used car you buy. Read the report it bears and know what you are getting before you spend your money.

Study the Bargain Offerings Today on Page 21.

Pleasure Plus

The person who plays a musical instrument has a decided advantage over the one who does not.

First of all the accomplishment creates personal popularity—it is a source of income to many, and it brightens dull moments.

Consult the Musical Instruments columns below.

SHOP FOR PROFIT

Through The American's classified columns.

Save steps in shopping and money in buying —convenience plus economy.

"return justifies increased copy"

While the result of advertising is usually most uncertain I am convinced that the return from The American fully justifies a continuance with increased copy during the coming year.

Here you see a facsimile of yesterday's Boston Evening Globe. Note the date, April 24. Note the time of the edition, "7:30, Latest Evening." Note the eight-column headline, "Senate passes bonus, 67 to 17." Below this, note the date of the dispatch from Washington announcing that the Senate had passed the Soldiers' Bonus Bill. It is "April 23," day before yesterday.

You who read the Boston American had that news offered to you in the Boston American of DAY BEFORE YESTERDAY—when it WAS news. The red fudge press—a marvelous little printing press, the invention of George Pancoast, once secretary to Mr. Hearst, makes it possible for the American to print the news two minutes after it happens, whereas other printing presses are forced to wait thirty minutes, with seventeen different handlings, before they can print news. That is the reason for the American's red fudge and red headlines which print important news in advance of other newspapers almost every day in the week.

Automobile Licenses

Hard to Get in Malden, but Not In Boston

You've heard the story of the gypsy moth commission of a State within radio's reach of here? The pest had been almost exterminated and it looked as though the gypsy moth commission would have nothing to do. So certain employes went into the country and released a few bushels of moths.

There appears to be a disposition on the part of the automobile examiners of certain Massachusetts communities to be working up gypsy moth business.

Automobile examiners are paid out of fees for the tests. If an applicant fails to pass the first test the examiner is sure of more money as a result of the second fee.

A young woman writer for this newspaper took an automobile test in Malden. She was refused a license. She came to Boston at once, took an examination in the midst of the heaviest traffic in Boston, was passed that same day and secured her State license.

Help the Volunteers

They Have Helped Many as Good as You

It was a matter of luck that you were born as you were, reared as you were and given the chance to be what you are.

When an institution like the Volunteers of America comes to ask you for funds in celebration of its jubilee years of service, you might think of that.

But for luck, chance, fate, destiny, the will of Providence, or whatever you choose to call it, the Volunteers of America might be holding forth its helping hand to raise you up instead of the free-will hand to accept your offering.

The Japanese incident proves that long giving arouses universal expectancy. MRS. SOLOMON SAYS

By HELEN ROWLAND

VERILY, my Daughter, an Ideal Husband is more precious than rubies, and rarer than rasbins. Let whoso findeth one of these, cherish him!

Behold, he is filled with sweetness and light and understanding, and dyspepsia is not IN him.

If a giveth his wife credit, and denyeth her not, neither doth he remind her when she hath overdrawn at the bank.

He spranseth no "surprise" upon her, but calleth her EARLY to say that he shall be late for dinner, and bringeth not the unexpected guest.

He taketh his wife what he is going to do, and WHY he doeth it, so that curiosity gnaweth not as a worm at her heart.

He harkeneth with sympathy unto his wife's complaints, and sideth with her against the tailor and the neighbors and the cook, for earth always, "Thou art right, Beloved."

He draweth his evening clothes without balking, and climbeth into the driver's seat of the car without groaning.

He regardeth his wife's hats with admiration and her "imports" with approval, and asketh her not the price thereof.

He bestoweth upon his wife in private those little attentions which he showeth to other women in public. He giveth her the most comfortable chair and sympathizeth with her "insomnia."

He realizeth that his wife needeth a "day off." Upon her club day, he eateth the delicatessen dinner of canned goods and hamburger without murmur or complaint.

He understandeth the purpose of an ash-tray, and USETH it, even in preference to the piano-top or the floor behind the radiator.

He foldeth the newspaper, when he hath finished therewith and cleaneth his own safety razor without fail. He hangeth up his own hat.

He remembereth his wife's birthday, and the color of her eyes, and forgeteth not how her gown hooketh upon the shoulder.

He flirteth not with other women, neither CUTETH in its turn.

He amuseth the baby on his holiday, and doeth his "resting" between "chores."

He LOOKETH at his wife occasionally, to admire her, and perceiveth not that she is getting fat.

Verily, verily, whoso findeth one of these, let her grapple him to her heart, so long as he liveth.

For he is not a mere Male, but a Miracle, and TOO GOOD to mate.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

WHERE the willows, tend ing, whisper to the stream when the day is ending and the West acclaim, there are garden bowers filled with blossoms rare; there the queenly flowers perfume all the air. When the dusk is falling roses stand in state, while poor will comes calling softly to his mate. Twilight rays are bringing fairer scenes than noon, all the world is winging toward the misty moon. In this purple hour at the close of day, flower speaks to flower and the roses say: "Come, forget all trouble in these tranquil ways; what though joy's a bubble, life a trackless maze? Fret not for hereafter, grasp at earth's surcease; seek the ways of laughter and the paths of peace! And as life dankness changing sun and shade, live it like the roses, say you unafraid!" When the day is dying and the moon comes up when the mists are lying in the valley's cup, when the bending willows whisper to the stream with its mimic billows all a golden gleam, that is when the roses tell their story old, as each bud unclose, pink or white or gold. "See," they murmur gaily "life is love and light, Blessed with sunshine daily and the stars by night. Pay no toll to longing, clasp no vain regret; joys will still come thronging, days be brighter yet. Watch the roses smiling, though their life is brief, gladness still beguiling each unfolding leaf. Close your eyes to sorrow, cast your fears away; picture no tomorrow that can wrong today!"

Deserted Mother's Plea

Editor Helping Hand:

May I come in again, please? Some time ago you got me in touch with a lovely lady who had a bed to give away, but she lives down in East Weymouth, and I had no way of getting it here except by express, and she and I are both too poor to pay it. Would anyone who lives down that way be able to bring it up by auto? I have a nice pair of black satin shoes, size 3, very narrow, that I would be glad to give to someone who can wear them. I am very anxious to get a stroller for my baby. He is three pounds underweight and so small. I am a deserted mother and find it pretty hard to keep him in clothes. Many thanks for your kindness to me.

MRS. E. C. T.

Perhaps some kind Weymouth reader will offer to bring down the bed for you. We are going to hold the slippers for replies, and we have no narrow widths on file. Thank you for offering them.

Children Out of Clothes

Editor Helping Hand:

I hesitate to ask for help when I read of so many who appeal to you for aid. But my children are all out of clothes, and those they have have been patched and mended until there is nothing left to mend. My oldest boy earns three dollars a week, which helps, but my husband has not worked much all Winter and is only on half time. I am expecting a visit from the big bird, but don't know how I will be able to provide clothing. The boys are fourteen, twelve, nine, eight, and the girl is four. MRS. L. C. 2.

Asks Baby Clothes

Editor Helping Hand:

I am working and trying to clothe my baby and myself. It takes quite a bit, too. I was wondering if any of your readers have any underclothing. I would appreciate it very much. I wear size 36 or 38. Where I work I only make nine dollars and pay seven out for baby and me, so there is not much left to buy anything to wear. MRS. F. C.

Lauds Helping Hand

Editor Helping Hand:

I want to thank you for the Helping Hand. It must be doing much real good among the needy. I often think, "I hope they are all worthy." I have some shoes, size 4½, both high and pumps, and would be glad to give them to someone.

A. M. T.

Thank you. You have been sent the address of Mrs. M. P., who is struggling along on $18 a week. We have found very few unworthy. It is sometimes a better world than one would think.

Voice of New England

Thanks American

Editor American:

In behalf of all postoffice clerks and particularly those of Massachusetts, I sincerely thank you, as the representative of the paper, for the fine, forceful editorial, "Good Pay for Postoffice Workers." It expresses common sense logic, and, being in all of the Hearst publications, cannot fail to be of great assistance towards our ultimate victory in the campaign for a decent remuneration.

Gratefully yours,

T. F. DOLAN,

Sec.-Treas. Massachusetts Branch United National Association of Postoffice Clerks.

Secks Enlightenment

Editor American:

Please enlighten us on your articulate theories of newspaper English. What is right? Bobbed hair bandit, bob haired bandit, or bobbed haired bandit?

We picked up four New York newspapers and each one said it differently.

Is a man bowlegged, or bowlegged or is he bowedleg?

Is a woman dyed haired, dye-haired or dyed hair?

Please get Harry Thaw to answer this.

DR. FRANK CRANE ON TWO CLASSES OF THEATRE GOERS

By Dr. Frank Crane

THERE are two kinds of people who go to theatres.

One kind to see the same thing over and over; the other kind to see something new.

The lower the order of the theatre, and the more it appeals to the vulgar mob, the more it attempts only to show the audience what it has seen before and expects to see again. Managers of vaudeville know that the spectators will not tolerate anything new. They want certain things. They want a dance, a song, a monologue, a playlet, an acrobatic performance, trained animals and instrumental music.

People go to vaudeville because they know exactly what they are going to see.

The same thing is true of the large portion of what is called the legitimate stage. Those audiences enjoy grand opera the most who know the operas by heart.

A successful playwright who puts on a show that will run for two or three years is one who deals with situations that have been consecrated by long usage. The people are used to them and understand them.

All this is not necessarily wrong. People go to the theatre to be diverted. Most of them live surface lives and only surface amusements can entertain them.

But there is another and a smaller class who are constantly searching the theatre for some new light for the spirit; some new glimpse into the inscrutable problems of life.

This class is not large because it thinks and loves to think. It is not constantly engaged in running away from life and in trying to forget; it loves life and tries to understand.

Once in a blue moon a play is presented that is sheer, beautiful, creative imagination.

Those who come under the classification of "theatregoers" do not care for it. Professional critics are as hostile towards it as bishops are towards heretics.

But it is this kind of play that justifies the theatre. The theatre must stand or fall, in the long run, by the value of its contribution to life. The test of a play is, does it widen the horizon, does it deepen and enrich the sympathies, does it sharpen the vision, does it, on the whole, refresh and improve the human spirit?

The theatre, at its best, ought to mean more to mankind than the pulpit, for it appeals strictly to the imagination, and the imagination is the real source of character and morals. Besides, the theatre charges admission and what we pay for always does us more good than what is given away for nothing.

A quite amazing play, which illustrates the better type, is "The Wonderful Visit," by H. G. Wells and St. John Ervine. It depicts an angel who visits an ordinary English village. As he comes he is shot at, for he is taken to be some strange bird. The week or two he spends in the village gives us a brilliant picture of what tragedy would ensue from the contact of our conventional life with pure ideals and intelligence.

The whole thing is an enormously clever comment on what we call civilization.

In the search for the unusual the dramatists too often show us the sordid and repulsive things of life as though these were the most real. The truth is, however, that the most real things are the things that present the greatest contrast to the hypocrisies of convention; the nobilities and beauties of life.

It is doubtful whether human nature is enriched or improved; it is certainly not gladdened, by representations of vileness, horror or cruelty. Such things are only tolerable when they serve to relieve and to emphasize the presence and power of goodness, of beauty.

GARRETT P. SERVISS ON FIGHTING FOR CORN

By Garrett P. Serviss,

Famous Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest.

THE invading European corn borer is marching rapidly on in the United States and has reached the border of the famous American "corn belt," which begins in Ohio, and the Bureau of Entomology is fighting together with the farmers to arrest it. No loss it could inflict a greater disaster upon the United States than would the loss of this battle against an overseas insect, whose multitudes increase wherever they are not interfered with like the swelling waters of a Spring flood.

The bureau is putting up colored posters, covered with telling pictures, which recall the World War rallying cry posters of a few years ago. Great, beautiful, golden ears of American corn, just beginning to ripen on the stalks, turned into wormfested weeklies, splendid tasseled heads, but lately waving proudly in the winds, like the plumes of sachems, gnawed off and hanging in withered bunches from the summits of the lofty stems; and all the work of an alien enemy, a devouring invader in our land —these are things that no true American can brook. There is no question of pacifist scruples here. In striking at Indian corn the enemy strikes at our heart.

If I am correctly informed, it was only late in 1917 that this foreign destroyer was first noticed at his deadly work in the fields of west corn near Boston. But already his hosts have spread to parts of New York State, of Ohio, of Michigan and of the Canadian Province of Ontario.

The scouts of the Bureau of Entomology are visiting thousands of farms in the three-tened borders of the corn belt. Their war cry to the farmers is:

"Burn all cornstalks, cobs, subbins, coarse weeds and garden trash before May 1!"

That destroys the grubs, or caterpillars that have been Wintering in preparation for the Spring foray. City dwellers may well take an interest in this fight, for it is being waged for them. It is a new phase of the great war against food-destroying insects, in which nobody can afford to be neutral. Entomologists, whose business it is to discover, to know and to make known the facts, have, in late years, again and again repeated the statement, which is in the nature of a warning to mankind, that only by concentrated and continuous effort can we beat off the insect world, whose ravages increase as civilization spreads.

The more we develop the fertility of the fields, the more we at the same time multiply the food resources of our many-winged and many-footed foes, the countless hosts of Beelzebub, king of the dung-hill and arch fiend of the Hexapoda. Nobody who has a garden or a rose-bed, or a few cherished fruit trees, can be in any doubt about the reality of that danger. Every returning Spring brings back the old foes with a new host of winged or crawling devils to aid them.

We make a great mistake in thinking that human beings alone are served by the swift spread of communication by air as well as by sea and land all over the globe. Wherever we go, the insects follow us. They are cunning stowaways. They go in our very pockets, sometimes. They enter and sit at all our feasts. Their's, too, is the Monte Cristo cry: "The world! the world is mine!"

Let the city man know, too, that the destroying angel of the corn is a beautiful ½ pinkish-white moth, an inch long, of the shape of an isosceles triangle when at rest, with a pair of little eyes like black beads, and long, white, soft, ladylike gloves covering her extremities. Her horrible descendants are whitish, or brownish, slender worms, or caterpillars, which never look so hateful than when they squirm out of a disemboweled cornstalk.

It is Cato's war that we have to wage upon them: "Delenda est Carthago!"
